A PRETTY teacher who used explicit pictures of herself to seduce a student has been jailed.

Anna Patton, 23, sent a string of naked snaps and sexy social media messages to the 16-year-old lad, who she taught.

Taboo

She then had a taboo relationship with the teenager.

Patton was jailed after she admitted sexual assault when she appeared in court.

Rugby League 'visionary' is dead at 81

MAURICE Lindsay, the architect of Wigan's golden era and also a former chief executive of the Rugby Football League, has died at the age of 81.

Wigan paid tribute to their former chairman, who joined the club in 1980 and sparked an unprecedented period of success, saying he "will be forever remembered as a visionary".

Under Lindsay's leadership, Wigan won eight league titles and also eight consecutive Challenge Cups between 1985 and 1992, with a side featuring stars like Ellery Hanley and Martin Offiah.

Lindsay (above) was one of the instigators of Super League and the switch to summer rugby in 1996.

RFL chief executive Ralph Rimmer said: "He will be remembered as one of the most significant leaders in the sport's history."

Corpse abuse challenge lost

A WOMAN whose mother's corpse was abused by a necrophiliac murderer has lost a High Court fight over the scope of a public inquiry.

Amanda Miah on Tuesday complained to Mr Justice Swift that the scope of an inquiry into the crimes of David Fuller was too narrow.

The judge refused to give her the go-ahead to stage a challenge.

Kent hospital electrician Fuller killed two women before sexually assaulting them and abused more than 100 corpses.

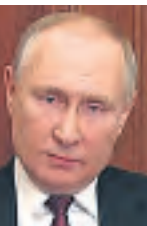

He was jailed in December.

CRAZY: Mad Vlad

WILL HE HIT BACK? Biden

THE world is closer than ever before to World War 3, experts say, after Russian military attacked a truck carrying American weapons being delivered to Ukraine.

The missile hit is believed to have destroyed weapons made by the US that were being imported to help the country repel invaders.

But the strike is believed to have involved US-infrastructure, making retaliation from US president Joe Biden a clear possibility.

A Foreign Office insider said: "So far this has been a proxy war. The West and Russia have not been engaging directly but Western weapons have been used to repel to invaders."

Target

"Putin is furious about this and sees the supply lines as a legitimate target, no matter who the vehicles belong to. But that means he may have killed US drivers."

"If that is the case then Biden may react. The American public will be furious if he doesn't. He will be seen as weak and the nation will be weak."

World War 3. This is not like the proxy wars of the past.

"This is real and Putin is crazy and paranoid. He will not show the restraint that leaders in the Cold War displayed."

"Putin really doesn't care if the world burns. The next steps will have to be played out very carefully."

"The West cannot treat this like any other incident. They have to understand Putin is crazy."

Tributes pour in for 'Voice of North' Kay

STARS from TV and beyond have paid tribute to screenwriter Kay Mellor, hailed as "our voice of the North", following her death aged 71.

The Leeds-born actress, director and writer of prolific TV shows like Fat Friends, The Syndicate, Band Of Gold and more, died on May 15, her TV production company Rollem Productions said.

It's A Sin and Queer As Folk writer Russell T Davies described Mellor's "unshakeable belief in story, story, story".

In an Instagram post, he wrote: "I adored her. She taught me so much. And she was hilarious!"

Barbara Dickson, who starred as Anita Braithwaite in Band Of Gold, tweeted: "I am heartbroken. She was an inspirational writer and a huge influence on me."

West Yorkshire mayor Tracy Brabin tweeted: "Our voice of the North, she put working class characters at the centre of her brilliant compassionate, moving & funny stories. Such a loss."

Tories trigger two by-election fights

THE Conservative Party has officially triggered the by-election contests to replace two of their MPs who resigned in disgrace.

Business in the House of Commons on Tuesday started with Government chief whip Chris Heaton-Harris issuing the writs for the vacant seats in Wakefield, West Yorkshire, and Tiverton and Honiton, Devon.

The by-elections have to take place between 21 and 27 working days from the issuing of the writ.

The Wakefield contest follows the resignation of ex-Conservative MP Imran Ahmad Khan after his conviction for sexually assaulting a boy.

Neil Parish quit his Tiverton and Honiton seat after he admitted watching pornography in Parliament.

PUTIN CRONY: WE'LL BOMB BRITAIN TO STONE AGE

A RUSSIAN state TV pundit has called for Britain to be bombed 'back to the Stone Age' with missile strikes on our power stations.

Yaakov Kedmi, a Moscow-born diplomat, said Russia's new hypersonic Zircon missile should be deployed to wipe out 50 or 60 power stations in the UK "in 10 minutes", plunging the country into darkness.

Kedmi, speaking on one of Russia's most-watched talk shows, said it would be "overkill" to use the Sarmat missile - which is said to be capable of carrying 12 nuclear warheads - on Britain.

Instead, he said, the UK should be targeted with the 6,670mph Zircons.

Politician Aleksey Zhuravlyov and another TV propagandist Dmitry Kiselyov had earlier advocated striking Britain with the Sarmat missile, also known as Satan-2.

"It's overkill. Sarmat is too good, too big, for Great Britain," Kedmi said on state-owned Russian television channel Russia 1.

"There is no need to use such a big weapon for Britain at all."

"One or one-and-a-half launches from a multi-purpose submarine with Zircons will be enough."

"About 50 or 60 of Britain's power stations will be gone in ten minutes. And all of Britain will be back to the Stone Age."

"Within 10 minutes, nothing else is needed. It'll be back to the Stone Age for them."

QUEEN OPENS ELIZABETH LINE

THE Queen has made a surprise appearance to officially open the Elizabeth line, named in her honour.

She was given an Oyster card and shown how to use it on a ticket machine.

The 96-year-old monarch (left), who now rarely carries out public engagements outside of her royal residences, joined her youngest son the Earl of Wessex at Paddington Station for the royal visit on Tuesday.

The Queen, holding a walking stick, smiled warmly as she met Crossrail and Elizabeth line workers and walked slowly around the station concourse.

Elizabeth line customer experience assistant Kofi Duah said he was "thrilled" to present an Oyster card to the Queen and show her how it could be topped up on a machine.

Unveiling a plaque stating that she had "officially opened" the Elizabeth line, the monarch spent 10 minutes in the station before departing in a lift, escorted by son Edward.

The nation's longest reigning head of state is just over two weeks away from her Platinum Jubilee celebratory weekend.

I'D BANG APPLE ...& I CAN SAY THAT NOW SHE'S 18

Pervert

Gwyneth's daughter

BIRTHDAY HUG:
Apple and Gwyneth share intimate pose

Everyone loves me99, Perth Australia, about 2 hours ago

I would definitely bang Apple ... and I'm allowed to say that as she's 18 now ...

AS she ascended the lower slopes of womanhood on slender, coltish legs, Gwyneth Paltrow's daughter Apple Martin attracted all the WRONG kind of attention!

Gwyneth celebrated eldest child Apple's 18th birthday with a big hug and some neon lights. The actress, 49, shared a photo of their hug in front of a hedge decorated with a pink apple-shaped neon light as well as a pink neon heart.

The Shakespeare in Love actress wore a black and white dragonfly print strapless dress as she embraced her daughter.

Apple looked elegant in a blue and white toile print dress with spaghetti straps.

Proud

Mother and daughter looked more like sisters in the pose, each with their long blonde locks styled straight.

The Goop founder also posted a shot of her blue-eyed daughter in a beautiful white dress, gazing at her reflection in the mirror.

Gwyneth wrote a long and heartfelt Instagram post that began, '18. I'm a bit of a loss for words this morning (crying emoji). I could not be more proud of the woman you are. You are everything I could have dreamed of and so much more.'

But when the photos went online, one reader of the hate-filled Daily Mail made his filthy intentions VERY clear.

Everyone loves me99, from grim city Perth in Western Australia, salivated: "I would definitely bang Apple ... and I'm allowed to say that as she's 18 now...."

Last night a friend of the Paltrow family said: "I think the police in Perth should be taking a hard look at this gentleman's hard drive."

Darts champ partied on Pot Noodle

DARTS king Peter Wright has admitted celebrating his World Championship win with a POT NOODLE.

The 52-year-old Scot, nicknamed Snakebite, said he even travelled with several Pot Noodles in his suitcase because he never knew when he'd finish playing.

The world No1 revealed: "After winning the World Championship this year, and £500,000, it was gone midnight when I got back to where I was staying and I celebrated with a Pot Noodle, toast and a cup of tea."

RoboCop has got no robocock!

THE director of classic movie RoboCop says he ditched plans for the star to have an affair... because he 'didn't have any genitals'.

Paul Verhoeven, who directed the 1987 movie, said that he initially wanted RoboCop to have a fling with cop partner Anne Lewis, played by Nancy Allen.

He said, however, he decided against it... because RoboCop was lacking in the manhood department.

The Dutch director – who also made Basic Instinct – said: "I originally thought Nancy Allen, who was playing RoboCop's partner Anne, should have a secret affair with him, which was very Dutch of me."

"Screenwriter Ed Neumeier wrote a new draft, but it didn't work."

"If you look at RoboCop's costume, there's not much there in terms of genitals anyway!"

'CALM YOUR WIFE DOWN'

What Wayne Rooney told Jamie Vardy, court hears

TOUGH TALK: Rooney and Vardy

WAYNE Rooney had to tell Jamie Vardy to "calm" wife Rebekah down in an "awkward" conversation at Euro 2016, the High Court heard.

The Derby manager, who was England captain at the time, was spoken to by then-gaffer Roy Hodgson and assistant manager Gary Neville.

Wayne said there had been "negative media coverage" and "issues" surrounding Rebekah Vardy that were "causing problems and distractions".

Giving evidence at the Wagatha Christie trial, he told the High Court: "They asked me, as captain, would I be able to speak to Mr Vardy on issues regarding his wife and I think we all knew that it was an awkward subject."

"I'd need to speak to Mr Vardy and ask him to speak to his wife and say to ask his wife to calm down."

Wayne said he sat down in the games room and drank a coffee with Jamie, who had a can of Red Bull, for the conversation.

He continued: "It was an awkward situation for me and I'm sure it was an awkward situation for Mr Vardy, but I felt it was in the best interests of the team."

Describing the tournament in France, the ex-Man United ace said Rebekah was "almost there with the team" during

"down time" as she was on Facetime with Jamie throughout.

Wayne also revealed he has never "particularly been friends" with his Three Lions team-mate.

But Leicester ace Jamie, who sat metres from his former team-mate while he supported Rebekah in court for the first time, has denied the claims.

In a statement outside court, he said: "Wayne is talking nonsense."

Legion ditch Le Tiss over Ukraine rant

FOOTBALL legend Matt Le Tissier has been red-carded by angry old soldiers in the Royal British Legion.

They're in a Le Tiss-tizzy because he tweeted that dying COVID patients in Italy were 'actors' and the Western media's reporting of the war in Ukraine could not be trusted.

To rub it in, they have brought on a sub – Paul Merson.

They have even called 'Merse', who played for rival club Arsenal, an 'upgrade' on Matt, who played for Southampton.

The Swanage British Legion in Dorset have cancelled a 'spend the evening listening to Matt' event.

Le Tissier, 53, was also forced to quit his role as an ambassador for Southampton FC.

David Elm, Swanage Legion steward, said: "There were negative remarks on our Facebook page with people taking offence at his comments on the war in Ukraine."

CARRY ON FILMS ARE NOT SEXIST!

THE Carry On films, notorious for titillating the nation, were 'not sexist', an author has claimed.

Caroline Frost, whose book Carry On Regardless has just been published, said the 31 movies actually empowered women.

The author, who re-watched all 31 Carry On movies for the book, said she had expected women to be portrayed as 'stupid and beautiful' in the movies.

However, she said the movies were not 'sexist romps' which 'reduced' female stars like Barbara Windsor, Joan Sims and Hattie Jacques to simply being 'totty'.

She said many folk reckoned the movies were 'sexist, simplistic romps with its female stars objectified and reduced to totty', with 'their clothes liable to fly off' at any point.

Feminist

She argues that was not the case, adding that the movies were 'more sophisticated than they are remembered for'.

The author said the movies gave female stars an 'opportunity to shine', adding: "Some of the scripts were defiantly feminist when there wasn't a lot of that about."

Writing in the T2 supplement, she said Jacques, Sims and Windsor were "fine actresses who took pride in creating characters and never considered themselves exploited."

"Carry On Nurse, Doctor, Again Doctor and Matron are all based on the central, tacitly acknowledged premise that it is the nurses – paid a lot less and often patronised – who are getting on with running the wards while their snooty superior male colleagues tie themselves up in stethoscope knots and have to be rescued.

"Some critics might regard Windsor in her nurse's uniform, the constant subject of the male gaze, as definitive proof of the films' exploitation of women, but this doesn't really stand up to scrutiny."

"While Windsor's calling card was her conspiratorial giggle, she never gave away her agency."

Offensive

"Her characters were always independent young women who knew their mind and no male character ever succeeded in controlling her."

She said when series producer Peter Rogers, who died in 2009, was asked about whether his movies were offensive to women, he replied: "Offensive to women? We make a fuss of them."

Female stars also said they were treated 'very well' on the movies and that 'equality' reigned supreme during filming.

Jail guard 'was banging' three convicts she helped escape NOW SHE'S SCREWED!

GETAWAY DRIVER: Victoria Tune

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A FEMALE screw helped three teen convicts escape... and jail bosses reckon she was shagging them all!

The escape comes two weeks after a jail boss in Alabama helped a convict go missing for 11 days before shooting herself dead as police closed in on the pair, who were involved in a relationship.

The Red River Parish Sheriff's Office posted on Facebook that it was notified that the three inmates, all serving time for serious crimes, broke out of the Ware Youth Detention Center in Coushatta, Louisiana.

"Oncoming day shift employees discovered that three male juvenile residents, with help from a female WYC security guard, had escaped the juvenile detention facility approximately four hours earlier," the Red River Parish Sheriff's Office posted on Facebook.

The post said video surveillance captured security guard Victoria Tune, 21, driving the three teens from the detention centre in a white 2010 Pontiac G6 with a Louisiana licence plate and a missing rear bumper.

The escapees were named as TyJuan Lafitte, 17, serving time for first-degree attempted murder;

But he was arrested and admitted disclosing a private sexual photograph with intent to cause distress to his victim when he appeared at Llandrindod Wells Magistrates Court.

Amazon man turned out to be 8ft gator

WHEN Ed Ferraro heard a rattling at his front door, he thought it was the Amazon man...

But he was shocked to find it was an 8-foot ALLIGATOR!

Ed, of Odessa, Florida, said: "I went out to check on what it was and fortunately I cracked my blinds."

"I saw this monster alligator on my front porch. It definitely freaked me out."

Ed initially thought the giant reptile was fake and he was simply the victim of a prank.

"But then I started looking at it. I'm like, 'Oh no, this is definitely a real, very real thing'. I was just completely dumbfounded," he said.

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission was called in to cordon off the area to prevent joggers or dog walkers having a face-to-face meeting.

"Apparently, this gator had come from somewhere across the street," Ed said.

"Why did the alligator cross the road? I don't know," he quipped.

BIKINI BABE HUNTS NESSIE'S YANK COUSIN!

SEXY BEAST: Monster
hunter Katy (below)

PHOTOS COURTESY OF MANUAL REGO

By TIM WHITTARD
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE usual image of someone who goes looking for mystery monsters in the wilderness is an overly-hairy bloke with a habit of talking to himself...

As you can see, Katy Elizabeth is NOT like that!

Author Katy is on the hunt for a long serpent-like beast, which could be Nessie's American cousin.

The 37-year-old beauty has been studying the aquatic life in Lake Champlain, a 490-square-mile lake on the US-Canada border where numerous people have reported seeing an unusual creature similar in appearance to Scotland's legendary Loch Ness monster.

Slippery

Katy believes the creature is real and has spent years researching the phenomenon, meeting eye-witnesses and spending time on the lake.

She explained: "The evidence is really compelling, there are so many eye-witness reports."

"I believe people are seeing a real animal which is yet to be discovered by science."

"We have photos, videos and even echolocation recordings from the lake, which suggests whatever this creature is, it has an advanced language system similar to that used by whales and dolphins."

She added: "The mysterious lake monster is said to have a body which is long, slippery and shaft-like, with a lot of girth and a wide head."

In her recent photo shoot, the bikini-clad beast seeker took to the lakeside in an effort to lure the lake's monster to the surface.

But Katy warned: "It can be very dangerous out on the water. I don't go without my two buoyancy aids!"

Katy's new book 'Lighthouses, Shipwrecks and Lost Treasures: Lake Champlain' is out later this year.

Vibrators WON'T ruin your sex life

WOMEN have revealed they once reached for the hairbrush, phallic-shaped fruit and vegetables, or even deodorant cans before discovering good vibrators.

According to sex toy brand Normal, women also admitted to trying out electric toothbrushes and PENS in the pursuit of pleasure.

And while women are becoming more confident buying adult toys, many still believe vibrators can desensitise your nerve endings, ruining future sexual experiences.

But Normal's sex coach Georgia Grace said: "It is a myth. Vibes will not desensitise your genitals or anus, you can't vibrate away nerve endings."

NECK BREAK KILLER 'LOST IT' AFTER ROW

A MAN accused of killing his girlfriend told police he was carrying a "400lb sex doll" when it was put to him that there was doorbell footage of him moving a body.

Nicholas Matzen, 35, was arrested over the death of Emily Rogers, 23, in St Francis, Wisconsin.

Matzen (below), who is also the father of Rogers' one-year-old child, has been charged with first-degree reckless homicide as well as hiding a corpse.

Court documents state that Rogers was last seen on April 26 and was reported missing on April 28 when a friend could not get in touch with her.

Her body was found in woodland, hidden under a Christmas tree, in St Francis.

Matzen apparently told a friend "I fked up, I hurt her" and he had broken her neck following an argument.

The friend said Rogers told Matzen that she was leaving him and he "lost it".

Man strangled lover... then died of heart attack

A MAN believed to have strangled his girlfriend died of a heart attack while burying her in their yard.

Joseph McKinnon, 60, had allegedly killed Patricia Dent, 65, inside their Trenton, South Carolina, home.

Cops who responded to the property over reports of "an unresponsive male lying in his yard" found McKinnon's body.

Deputies then found a second body in a freshly dug pit, Sheriff Jody Rowland said.

The body was identified as Patricia Dent (above), who lived with McKinnon.

McKinnon had a "cardiac event" while covering the pit, authorities said.

Investigators believe McKinnon strangled Dent in the home.

"McKinnon then bound her and wrapped her in trash bags before putting her in the previously dug pit," according to Sheriff Rowland.

IT'S possible they were scraping the barrel a bit when it came to a thing to celebrate on May 18.

Because today is – and this is true – No Dirty Dishes Day.

As themes for a day go, it's not quite Christmas or Mother's Day, is it?

In their promo for the event, the organisers said: "Nobody likes dirty dishes. That is why, on May 18, we celebrate National No Dirty Dishes Day."

"A holiday most likely created by an upset parent, National No Dirty Dishes Day has sinks around the world rejoicing at the thought of having a light workload and a clear space on this day."

"So keep sinks happy and do your part by saying 'NO' to dirty dishes."

There are few suggestions about how to achieve this happy state of affairs.

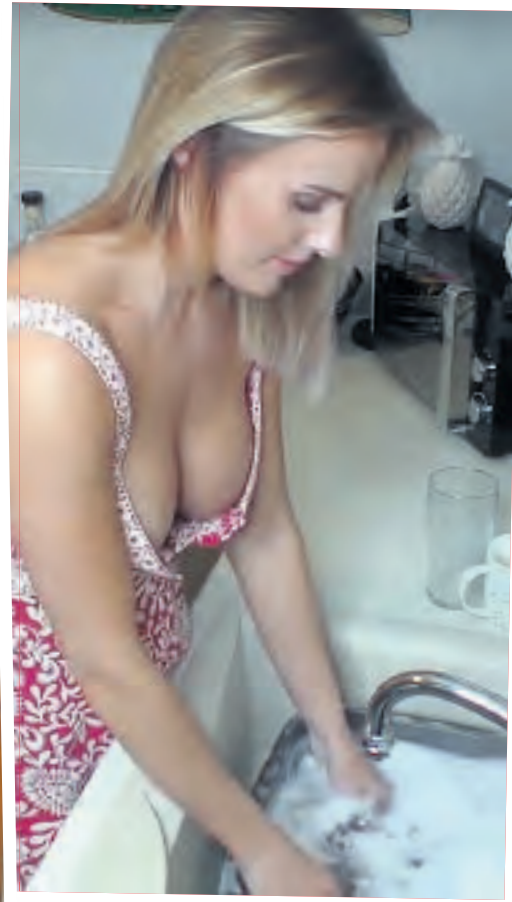

So how about five pages of topless babes washing the pots..?

FATHER-of-three Pablo Castro was putting the bins out at the shop where he worked when he was confronted by a psychopath looking for drug money.

John Ramirez stabbed Pablo no less than 29 times, cutting his throat and leaving him to die in a pool of blood.

And how much cash did Ramirez swipe after his sickening attack?

A little over a dollar...

MONSTERS OF DEATH ROW

THE WORLD'S MOST EVIL MURDERERS AND THE HORRIFIC CRIMES THAT SAW THEM SENTENCED TO EXECUTION...

"JUST a bad night" was how evil John Ramirez described the carnage that left a beloved husband riddled with stab wounds and dying on the concrete.

Ramirez says he'd been doing "silly things" with pals Christina Chavez and Angela Rodriguez, getting high and looking for people to rob so that they could buy more drugs.

But things went terribly wrong when he tangled with Pablo Castro in July 2004 outside the store where he

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

worked so hard to support his family.

Pablo resisted Ramirez's demand for cash, and a fight ensued.

What happened next left the town of Corpus Christi, Texas, in a state of shock.

Horror police images show Pablo's body lying on the ground, saturated in blood.

Ramirez, speaking from his cell on Death Row, explained: "It was just a bad night...a bad night. We were just doing these really silly things. We went to that store and I got into a fight with that man and I ended up assaulting him. I ended up killing him.

"I was so high on all the drugs and alcohol and, you know, I got so mad.

"It was so quick. I knew I went too far when I saw him fall down bleeding."

Cold-blooded Ramirez then went on the run, escaping to Mexico. He wasn't snared until four years later, at which point he'd fathered a young son.

Ramirez has recently offered an apology of sorts to Pablo's family.

He said: "I hope you will forgive me, but I'm not going to ask you to because I understand that's a real hard thing to do.

Sorry

"I understand you all hate me. I understand you all may think a lot of bad things about me.

"I want just you to know that I'm really, truly sorry. I really, truly am."

Those words will no doubt be the equivalent of nails down a chalk board for poor Pablo's grieving family.

On the night in question, Ramirez – a violent former Marine who'd left the armed forces to instead become a career criminal and insatiable drug user – had been hanging out with female accomplices Chavez and Rodriguez.

Court papers reveal: "Rodriguez and Ramirez pawned some things for drug money. Later, they went to Ramirez's friend's house, where they used more drugs until they ran out.

"Chavez testified that in order to obtain money for more drugs, they agreed to grab someone and take their money. They did not plan to hurt anyone.

"Only Ramirez had a weapon.

"They got into two maroon vans and started driving around, searching for someone to rob.

"Chavez testified that she drove one van, with Rodriguez as a passenger, while Ramirez drove the other.

"They pulled into the parking lot of Times Market, where they saw a man carrying a bag to the dumpster.

"Rodriguez got out of the van and spoke to him, then returned to the van.

"Chavez then saw Ramirez fighting with him. She told Rodriguez, who again left the van to see what was going on.

"Chavez testified that Rodriguez did not join in the fight but instead tried to get Ramirez off of him.

"Ramirez used the knife that he had been showing off earlier to stab the man until he fell to his knees.

"After the man fell to the ground, Ramirez pointed to Rodriguez, who then went through his pockets. She saw Rodriguez drop $1.25 onto the console when she got back into the van.

Lydia Salinas, the manager of the grocery

...it bad

AWAITING HIS FATE: Rodriguez on Death Row talks to Izzy, the son he fathered when he fled to Mexico shop, described what happened that fateful night.

She said: "It was closing time and I was counting the money.

"I thought Pablo was in the back room getting the trash.

Screamed

"A young girl walks in and just tells me that someone's outside lying, bleeding.

"I saw the body but I couldn't tell if it was Pablo so I ran back inside and screamed, 'Pablo! Where are you Pablo!' He was nowhere.

"When I saw him, it wasn't Pablo. He'd been stabbed so many times."

Another eyewitness describes Pablo refusing to give up, fighting with all his strength to keep breathing, before his injuries eventually overcame him.

Chavez and Rodriguez were soon arrested but Ramirez got away, prompting the four-year manhunt.

In the meantime, Pablo's family were left picking up the pieces.

His son Fernando was 11 years old when his father died.

Speaking bravely and eloquently on a recent BBC documentary Life On Death Row: In Cold Blood, Fernando said: "John Henry Ramirez is like a nightmare that I can't wake up from.

"One minute you're the happiest child in the world. Then, in the blink of an eye, your entire world is shattered.

"I distinctly remember seeing cars parked at the store, a body covered up, blood, and it just hit me.

I broke down. I don't know why they brought me there that night.

"It's something no 11-year-old boy should have to see, the way they killed my dad.

"I wet the bed because of it. Every time I saw blood from that point on, I would lose who I was. I'd seen what happened.

"If I had a paper cut or if I scraped my knee and it started bleeding, I would see my dad. He didn't have to cut my dad's throat."

Family

Reminiscing about the father he lost, Fernando adds: "Everyone called him 'Amigo' because he was that friendly as a person.

"Every Sunday he would barbecue for us. I would always look forward to it.

"He was a real family man."

Fernando's brother, Aaron, said: "It is truly devastating to lose your father at 14 years old. There's still so much more you need to know about being a man.

"The night Dad died I was watching TV and saw police cars, a body on the ground, some boots. Then I saw his hat.

"I saw a body being placed on a gurney and I knew - he's dead, he's gone.

"There was just blood everywhere."

Tragedy-hit Aaron and Fernando not only had to try to get on with their lives, they had to do so knowing that Ramirez was still out there, a free man.

There have been some suggestions Ramirez was granted protection in Mexico by powerful drugs cartels.

Even detectives doubted they'd ever be able to snare him.

Chavez and Rodriguez were charged with capital murder and aggravated robbery.

Rodriguez was handed a life sentence while Chavez was ordered to serve 25 years in prison.

In the meantime, Ramirez was living the high life in Mexico. He settled down with a girlfriend and fathered a son, Izzy.

But in February 2008, when Izzy was just two years old, Ramirez was finally captured. He was visiting his girlfriend's grandma in Brownsville, Texas, when the FBI swooped with ruthless efficiency.

By the end of the year, Ramirez had pleaded guilty to murder and been sentenced to death.

Prosecutor Mark Skurka told the jury at the trial: "Give Pablo Castro justice. Make this road end in justice."

"Who could doubt that John Henry Ramirez has gone down that road toward evil, toward death and destruction? "He needs to be punished for what he did. Is the death penalty a good punishment?"

"In this case, yes, because the facts and circumstances matter."

"Is there a chance, is there a probability, that he could hurt other people in the future and be a danger to our society?"

"The evidence is clearly that he could." As Ramirez awaits his fate on Death Row, it's hard not to feel some sympathy for the child created in the midst of such chaos.

Izzy recently said: "For me, he's a very important person in my life."

"I try to show him as much love as he needs. I love him and I want him to live."

"He's funny. He's part of my family. He loves me back."

"But he killed someone and he has to pay the price."

Son scuttled mum's boat in £6m inheritance plot

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MAN has been charged with killing his mother at sea in a bid to cash in on a £6million inheritance.

Nathan Carman, 28, now faces the possibility of life in prison over the sick scheme.

Carman appeared in court on multiple fraud charges, as well as for the murder of his mother, Linda Carman.

Carman was found alone in an inflatable raft off the coast of Rhode Island after he and his mum had gone on a fishing trip.

Federal prosecutors allege that Carman had sabotaged the boat prior to taking it out with his mother.

In his initial statement, Carman told members of the Coast Guard that he tried to rescue his mother but was unsuccessful.

However, witnesses testified that they saw him deliberately make the boat unseaworthy.

Shot

"Nathan Carman planned to kill his mother on the trip," reads the indictment.

"He also planned how he would report the sinking of the 'Chicken Pox' and his mother's disappearance at sea as accidents."

Police also suspect Carman may have had a hand in his grandfather's unsolved death in 2013.

John Chakalos was found dead in his Connecticut home after being shot three times in the head.

No criminal charges were ever filed against Carman, though police had named him a person of interest and had executed a search warrant for his home. Federal prosecutors deemed Carman a flight risk after finding thousands of dollars at his home and asked the judge to detain him until his trial.

Prosecutors noted Carman has a history of mental health problems.

Carman faces four counts of wire fraud, three counts of mail fraud and one count of first-degree murder.

NOT 'N' HORNY

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Lazy MPs can fk right off!

THIS IS Ms SNOB (aka Rachel Maclean)

THERE'S a broad stretch of opinion that suggests MPs can often be utter dickheads.

The opinion is correct. Earlier this week, in a monstrosity of an embarrassing round of interviews, some hopeless Tory that very few of us have ever heard of before came up with a plan to tackle the cost of living crisis.

We could, said Ms Snob, get better paid jobs and work longer hours.

Well, fk my old boots. She couldn't have sounded more like Margaret Thatcher or Norman Tebbit if she'd tried.

Unyieldingly right-wing, uncompromising, rubbish.

Because by saying that, she was saying we don't have the jobs we should have.

That we don't earn the money we should earn.

And the fault for that lays, she seemed to suggest, with US.

Now, I've had some experience of working in government.

And what it most definitely isn't is hard work.

Certainly not for the politicians, anyway.

Glamorous

Our gilded electoral representatives are given a handsome budget to employ staff to do most of their work for them.

They have people sorting out their diaries, for starters.

And setting up their long, fancy lunches.

And agreeing to send them on "fact-finding" missions to almost-always glamorous locations only served by five-star resorts and beaches made of actual unicorn ashes.

A day's work involves waking up, getting into the office about 11am, or thereabouts, only to then immediately go out for a coffee.

Or lunch, obviously. That lunch will take a sensible couple of hours to digest.

Then you'll need a last glass of wine or huge gin and tonic to wash it down.

After which you'll stroll back to the office, where your members of staff are answering phones and dealing with emails and throwing all the crap sent to you by idiots writing in green crayon in the bin.

You'll flick on the news, make some vague tapping noises, ask if anyone knows your password (again), and then close off your adjoining office door because you need to take a private phone call.

Or, as it's known in the real world, have a kip on the sofa.

Unless there's a knock on the door from the party leader, you can then snore gently away, comforted by the knowledge that some idiot whose name you can hardly remember is arranging your dinner.

At some stage, one of these underlings will bugger something up catastrophically, mainly because you haven't had your own eye on the ball as their boss.

But that doesn't matter, not really, because you're going to throw them under the bus anyway.

Because your future is more important than theirs.

And on – and on – it goes. MPs "advising" people to get better jobs and work longer hours need to remember one small, tiny thing.

The only reason we, the great British public, are feeling the pinch is precisely BECAUSE of the twats in charge.

And because of that, they can fk right off.

After all the crap they've put us through for the last two years, the idea of now blaming us for where we're at is astonishing.

But we heard you, Ms Snob. We REALLY bloody heard you.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I want to make my dogging dreams finally come true!'

I'M so turned on by the idea of dogging. It's seedy I know... I suppose that's the thrill!

I watch dogging and gangbang porn but I've never done anything wild like that in my life.

Some days I think some things are best left as fantasies and other times I feel, life is too short to not do what excites you!

I love the idea of people watching me, all stood around my car and peeking in.

I think it would really bring out the exhibitionist in me.

I think I'd start off with a solo sex show, touching myself and really making myself climax.

Then who knows if I'd get really horny and wind the window down and encourage men to touch me.

Loads of hands all over my body would be so hot!

In my wildest fantasy I open the car doors and take on all the guys! I'm getting horny just thinking about it.

Miss sent fanny snaps to student

A PRETTY teacher who sent pictures of her fanny to a student has been caged.

Anna Patton, 23, sent a string of naked snaps and sexy social media messages to the 16-year-old lad she taught at Lamar High School in Darlington County, South Carolina.

Patton (above) then had an "inappropriate relationship" with the teen.

She pleaded guilty to sexual assault when she appeared before Judge Paul Burch, who sentenced her to five years in prison but suspended it to 30 days in jail.

She will also be on probation for three-and-a-half years.

Patton was arrested in January 2020 and accused of having an "inappropriate relationship" with the student between October 2019 and January 2020.

The court heard that Patton communicated with the victim "through social media and text messaging for the purpose of enticing the victim to engage in sexual activities".

If you drank at Arby's, you had a piss-shake!

A FAST food boss urinated in the milkshake mix at the eatery for his own "sexual gratification" on at least two occasions, cops said.

Stephen Sharp admitted to police that he enjoyed relieving himself in the restaurant's milkshake mix while working as a night manager at a branch of Arby's in Vancouver, Washington state.

Officers executed a search warrant after Sharp was accused of noncercy and that's when he admitted his other dirty habit.

Investigators are now looking for any unlucky customers who bought and drank the urine-contaminated shakes.

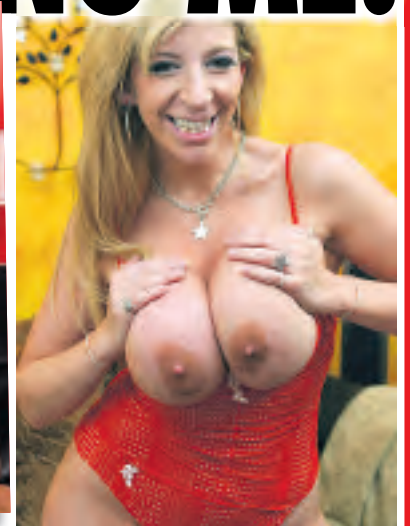

Police are still investigating the library of illicit videos and images on Sharp's devices.

SHAGGING LESSONS: Top MILF Sara Jay is showing the way

PORN STAR SAYS SHE'S A SEX EDUCATOR

THEY ARE LEARNING HOW TO F BY WATCHING ME!

A TOP MILF porn star says her X-rated movies are HELPING younger people to perform better in bed.

Sara Jay has worked in the porn industry for over 20 years and was quickly cast in roles where she starred as an experienced older woman.

Now, after years as a sex worker, the 44-year-old has reflected on how the men she sleeps with have changed, admitting that some younger men's "mummy issues" become apparent while she hooks up with them.

Appealing

But the busty model also suggested that, from her experience, the younger generations were getting better at sex.

And she put this down partly to the increasing consumption of adult films.

"When I was younger, having sex with younger guys? Not appealing at all. Even at 28, having sex with a 20-year-old, not appealing at all. That's not something that I wanted to do," she told the LustCast podcast.

By JAYNE FERGUSON

news@sundaysport.co.uk

"Now I don't really care how old they are, it matters how good you fk me."

And Sara controversially suggested this was because younger generations had watched more porn online and were learning from seeing performers like her in action.

"I was thinking about that and I was like, 'I wonder why that is?' It's because the 20-year-olds have changed, and I'm the reason why the 20-year-olds have changed," she said.

"Not just me but the porn industry, because we are reaching these young people at a very young age, they are learning how to fk by watching me."

"So when I fk young people, they're much better than they used to be."

Sarah has made hundreds of sex movies, featuring full and oral sex, anal, double penetration and even messy bukkake.

I LIKE a bit of light spanking – the tingling feeling gets me really wet and ready for the main event!

HS, South Yorks

I BELIEVE in grabbing an opportunity when you can.
You'll know better if it happens ; again.

ENJOY the memories!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Massive boobs left me with a BUST-ed nose!

Dear Kelly,

THERE'S nothing I like more than a huge pair of melons swinging in my face as my woman is riding me.

I love the look and feel of huge plate-sized nips bouncing off my face as her motion rocks them back and forth and I try to catch them with an inward suck of air as they close in on my mouth.

The bigger the mammary the better I like it and I'm hooked up with a mammoth bird with the biggest tits I've ever seen – simply in order to fulfil my desire.

Scared

She's up for most things, including doggy-style and anal where I pound her hard from behind while stretching forward to pull on her bouncing melons.

She also likes it when I spunk my load over her mush after a decent session.

But last week I got a big shock because she really hurt me when she swung her left tit into my face and almost broke my fking nose with it.

Now I'm scared about carrying on our style of love-making. How do I get round this?

RT, Derby

Kelly says...

IT'S just like a bike... when you fall off you get right back on and start riding again. If you don't, you'll be missing out on those lovely big knockers, won't you?!

Dear Kelly,

OH what joy it was to read a recent letter about Marigold-gloved, washing up liquid-lubricated wank jobs.

I use Marigolds and have lots of pairs in many different colours.

I wear them whenever I carry out household chores – I've even got a pair with a bit of fur round the cuffs – and this never fails to get my hubby going.

I often treat him by dressing up in crotchless red PVC leggings, full-length black PVC coat and red Marigolds.

I always go down on him, licking and slurping his cock until he spurts into the Marigolds.

Then we go in the shower, where I insist he dons a pair of rubber gloves and goes under the mac and gets my juices flowing onto his rubber gloves using a dildo.

Your correspondent wondered whether it was normal to be turned on by Marigolds and I can assure him it is – it's a regular part of our wonderful sex life!

WL, email

Kelly says...

WHAT could be more normal? Anything that gets you both going is great!

Dear Kelly,

IN the past three months my wife has turned into a nympho.

Before this she wasn't really interested in sex, but suddenly she can't get enough.

She now likes doing it in loads of positions and she recently even got me to dress up in stockings and susses while I gave her one.

When she mentioned that she'd like to try anal sex, I was well up for it as it's something I've always fancied trying.

I shagged her doggy-style first and then started teasing her arse with my cock, but then she told me to stop.

She explained that she wanted me to use a dildo on her, but I was a bit put out and sarcastically said I didn't happen to have a plastic tool to hand.

We'd never used such a thing before, so I was amazed when she reached out to the bedside drawer and pulled out a 10-inch dong.

Then she pulled out some lubricant, starting oiling it up and told me she wanted me to stick it up her.

I'm not complaining, but what do you think has made her suddenly become such a sex goddess?

JC, Ipswich

Kelly says...

BEST not to ask – just get stuck in and enjoy it!

DO YOU HAVE A SEX PROBLEM?

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of nosh as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

ANASTASIA DEVINE

LONDON train driver Len Sharp requested a topless pic of gorgeous Anastasia Devine.

Len, 47, from Dulwich, loves the 'girl-next-door' look of Anastasia who hails from Croydon.

He told us: "I've always fancied Anastasia and often look at her pictures on a break from navigating the tube tunnels – she's a real light in my day. "I have loads of buttons to press and concentrate on all day – but I dream of getting my hands on her 36D hooters."

VIKKI THOMAS

CARPET fitter Ian Summers emailed us asking for a saucy snap of glamour legend Vikki Thomas.

The 55-year-old, from Manchester, said Vikki is his all-time favourite Sport girl.

And he said he'd love to get naughty with the blonde beauty.

Vikki, from Weston-super-Mare, looks great in her undies but it's her 35DD norks which Ian's interested in.

He said: "She's mesmerising. I moan about laying carpets for folk, but Vikki is one thing I'd love to lay. Oh yes!"

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper! Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

NICOLA McLEAN

CHIP shop owner Brian Howard has always been bowled over by pretty Nicola McLean.

The 53-year-old, from Fleetwood, usually likes the girls up North but reckons Essex babe Nicola is the exception.

Lauren looks sensational with her pert 36Gs on full display in this very early shot.

Brian said: "Girls up here are proper fit and I'd love a local lass."

"But Nicola is a diamond and those tits are magic."

FOCUS ON CHAMPIONS-ELECT MAN CITY

Jack's all right to get one over on old pals

MAN CITY COMES FIRST AS GREALISH TAKES ON VILLA

JACK Grealish says there will be no old pal's act when Manchester City face Aston Villa on Sunday.

The Blues forward moved from Villa Park in a £100m transfer last summer.

Now he takes on his former team knowing a win will secure the Premier League title for City.

He was a legend with the

By MIKE FRANCIS

Villa fans having come through the ranks at the Birmingham club.

But now he's 100 per cent focused on landing an important win for Pep Guardiola's men.

He's looking forward to landing the first silverware of his career.

Grealish said: "You want to make it as easy as you can for yourselves."

"We have a great home record, all our fans will be behind us, it will be a great day."

"Fingers crossed we can go and get the win."

"It just had to be against Aston Villa, didn't it? It doesn't matter about me and it doesn't matter who we play against."

Difficult

"We will try to get all three points. It'll be different for me, I've never had that before, to play for a game to win a title. I'm looking forward to it. I can't wait."

It's fair to say that Grealish hasn't been an unqualified success since moving up the M6.

His important strike against West Ham was just his third of the season.

He hasn't been a regular in Guardiola's side but that is still a poor return for a player who has made 26 league appearances.

His return of three assists is a long way short of what you might expect from a £100m man.

But he's confident of making more of an impact in his second season at the Etihad.

Grealish said: "About time, isn't it? I just try to score goals. The manager tells me to keep getting into the box."

"I hit the target. I've scored quite a few goals at that ground in my career, hopefully I can play there more often."

UNHAPPY: Rooney

Wazza's still sore over City title win

WAYNE Rooney is still gutted about Manchester City's amazing 2012 Premier League title win.

It looked as though United had clinched the crown only for the amazing final few minutes at the Etihad when the home side scored twice in added time.

It inspired the new statue of hero Sergio Aguero outside City's ground that was unveiled last week.

But Rooney is still not happy with QPR who were the team that conceded those famous goals.

He said: "QPR's goalie Paddy Kenny should have done better for a couple of the goals."

"City get the second goal and QPR kick it straight back to them and that's never been questioned – I find that strange."

"Djibril Cisse celebrating after the game with the City players, but yes, listen, it's a historic moment in the Premier League so I'm sure that, if you are not involved as a Manchester United player, that's probably one of the greatest moments in the league."

Special

Aguero is honoured to have the statue outside the Etihad.

He said: "Truthfully, it is a very beautiful thing for me, to see myself 10 years ago is very moving."

"In those 10 years I was able to win a lot of trophies and was able to help the club become one of the most important in the world."

"I am very grateful to the club for making this statue in recognition of my football career in Manchester. It is something very special."

The statue hasn't pleased everyone though with critics saying it looks more than Real Madrid midfielder Toni Kroos than Aguero.

The German took to Twitter to pull Aguero's leg.

To a Tweet that said "Sergio is here" Kroos replied with his tongue firmly in cheek: "Sure?"

LAMPS: WE'LL BEAT THE DROP

FRANK Lampard is not losing any sleep over keeping Everton in the Premier League.

The Toffees blew a great chance to secure the safety when they lost at home to Brentford at the weekend.

Everton were leading until Jarrod Branthwaite saw red and the Bees had a big second-half to secure the win.

Lampard's men still need to bag three points to make sure they have Premier League football next season.

That could come against Crystal Palace on Thursday night. It's their final game of the season at Goodison Park and they won't want to be going to Arsenal on the final day with their future hanging in the balance.

Lampard admits that the mood in the dressing room was bleak after the Brentford game.

He said: "Down is not a problem. It was the circumstances of the game.

"Down is normal, we want to stay in the league. Everyone saw the intention of the team from the first minute to last.

"Down for a day is fine. Rest a bit, be positive and everyone get together from the club like we did. That's the beauty of it being in our hands."

Despite the defeat, Lampard has not ripped into his players for throwing a lead away and losing their discipline.

By PAUL THOMAS

He added: "Outstanding effort, the game plan before the game – brilliant.

"The period when it was 11 against 11 it felt like we controlled the game and we should have scored more against a really good side. It's really hard to say anything to them after that.

"Everyone understands the game. If I sat here and it was 11 v 11 and we went 1-0 up and lost 3-2 you can ask me about why it went wrong tactically or individually.

"They just need to rest and go again with the same desire, hopefully with 11 men through the game."

Challenge

As it was a straight red, Branthwaite is out for the final two games of the campaign.

And to make matters worse, sub Salomon Rondon got himself sent off just minutes after coming on for a two-footed challenge.

He said: "I will always give my all on the pitch. I always want to help my club, teammates and fans.

"I tried to do that today and know that I wasn't up to it in one incident and am truly sorry.

"My apologies from the bottom of my heart to the Everton family."

With Branthwaite missing, the return of Michael Keane is more important than ever for Lampard.

It was illness that kept the centre-back on the sidelines.

The Everton boss said: "Michael was sick overnight, so we are hoping it is a short-term one and he will recover for Thursday. Otherwise, probably, our other centre-backs won't be fit in time for that."

DISMISSED:
Branthwaite

RED END: Rondon didn't last long against Brentford

FIRED UP: Marsch

Leeds go on the Marsch to safety

LEEDS boss Jesse Marsch says his team showed enough against Brighton to give him hope of a final-day great escape.

The Yorkshireman need to win at Brentford and hope results go their way in Burnley and Everton's games to beat the drop.

Leeds scored a late equaliser to grab a 1-1 draw against the Seagulls in their final home game of the season.

Pascal Struijk's last-gasp header pulled Leeds out of the relegation zone until Everton play Crystal Palace tomorrow night.

If the Toffees don't win, it goes to the last match of the campaign on Sunday.

And Marsch is backing his players to beat the Bees and keep their survival dream alive.

The American said: "I've said since I've been here the mentality of our team to fight, stick together and go for things, especially with our backs against the wall, is at a very high level, so that rewarded us today.

Effective

"It's typical that we get a big chance at the start with Joe Gelhardt and it hits our captain in our face, it would've been one-nil and the game looks very different.

"After that to be fair to Brighton, they managed certain moments with the ball and were able to unbalance us, we weren't effective enough against the ball and we looked nervy on the ball at times and didn't get ourselves into the game.

"We became more compact and in the second half we pushed hard though and we were a little bit unlucky not to come away with more from the match.

"Everybody in the entire community here wants us to find a way to do this and we're trying to do everything we can to fight for the points.

"We've got to now invest everything we have going into Brentford at the weekend and be ready for a big match."

PAT ON THE BACK FOR ZAHA

WILFRIED Zaha needs to stop reacting on the pitch when he is fouled.

That's the advice from his manager Patrick Vieira who thinks he would benefit from not biting.

The Crystal Palace man is usually the target of hefty tackles from opposition defenders.

Against Aston Villa at the weekend, he reacted to many tackles and badgered referee Chris Kavanagh right through the match.

Vieira said: "his is part of Wilfried and his character, his personality.

"This is a strength and weakness at the same time.

By ANDY MILLOM

I think at times there were some fouls, and he is a target player, of course. But he has to manage the situation.

"He has to manage his mind, he has to keep that energy, that strength to allow him to make those kind of differences in the last third. This is something he will have to manage better.

"Saying that, he is a target, and I think it has been a bit difficult for him at times."

Now Palace are at the heart of the relegation battle as they take on Everton tomorrow night. If the Eagles manage to take something from the game, it means the battle for the drop will go down to the final matches.

Vieira thinks a repeat of their effort showed in the 1-1 draw at Aston Villa would give Everton plenty to think about.

The Palace boss said: "I was really happy with the performance against Villa.

"I think from the first minute, we played well and we managed to control the game.

"We showed quality and character to get back into the game and get the point from the match.

"We tried our best but when we get to the last third we don't always make the right decisions.

"Of course, we need to keep working and improving but this is one of the areas that next year will need to be better.

"There was space for us with the way we played and the chances we created and we should score more than one goal."

Palace will be without key player Michael Olise.

Vieira confirmed: "Michael was injured for Aston Villa.

"He had a step back in his recovery and he's not going to play for us again this season."

RETIRED: Hodgson

Hodgson points a finger at Hornets

ROY Hodgson admits some of his Watford players haven't shown enough effort as they drop out of the Premier League.

There have been lots of rumours that the Hornets dressing room isn't the most united place on the planet.

Being walloped 5-1 in their final home game of the season was a new low in a poor season.

Veteran goalie Ben Foster had a go at some of his team-mates, saying "no manager in the world" could have kept them up.

And 74-year-old Hodgson is ending his career on a low after becoming Watford's third manager of the season.

He said: "You can never blame anything totally on the players."

"A football club is an amalgam of many things. Players, of course, are the most important in a way, after the ownership and the people who make decisions at the top. And the manager comes somewhere in that amalgam."

"I wouldn't like to blame it totally on the players, no."

"I think that probably the reason for failure perhaps needs to be analysed a bit more closely, in a bit more depth. But I understand what Ben is saying."

"It is, to some extent, the feeling amongst a certain group of the players that they haven't had enough support from some of the others."

"So I understand that Ben, who is an honest guy, feels that it was important to make that point."

"I can only say I understand what he's saying or where he's coming from. But I'm not prepared to say it myself."

Foster has confirmed that he'll leave the club at the end of the season.

The 39-year-old signed from West Brom in 2018.

He said: "The ups, downs, good, bad and ugly...it's all part of the journey!"

"My time at Watford is up, but a huge thanks for all the support and love I've received from fans, players and staff at the club."

IT'S REALLY COMING TO THE BOIL

HARRY'S ANT AND DECKED!

Manager Conte must stay says Kane as Tottenham chase top-four finish

HARRY Kane looks set to commit his future to Tottenham – if boss Antonio Conte stays too.

The Italian has made a real impace since taking the White Hart Lane hotseat from Nuno Espirito Santo in November.

Spurs – and Kane – were really struggling then but have fought their way right into the battle for the vital fourth place in the Premier League.

Kane famously came close to signing for Manchester City last summer only for the deal to fall through over the size of the transfer fee.

Now Pep Guardiola has secured Erling Haaland instead and won't be calling for the Spurs and England forward this summer.

No other Champions League club appears to be interested. So, unless Kane makes a surprise move abroad, it looks like he'll see out the best years of his career in north London.

By PAUL THOMAS

He has gelled well with the abrasive Conte.

But there are growing rumours that the Italian may join Paris St Germain in the summer.

He is thought to be frustrated with the lack of real backing in the transfer market since he arrived at Tottenham's impressive new stadium.

Kane hopes the manager stays to build on the progress that has already been made.

He said: "I have no idea to be honest if he will stay, that is his decision."

"But he has worked really hard while he has been here, he's a great guy, a really passionate man so whatever his decision is you have to respect it but for sure I am enjoying it and I know the boys are enjoying working with him."

"I have said I am a big fan of his and we got on really well so of course it would be great for the club if he stays."

"But like I have said that is his decision, he's a man I'm sure he will talk to the club and decide on his future."

Desperate

"From our point of view we are all enjoying working with him."

Tottenham are locked in a straight fight with local rivals Arsenal for the final Champions League spot.

Both clubs are desperate to play in Europe's top tournament next season. The financial rewards are so much bigger than the Europa League and it makes such a difference with the calibre of player they can attract in the transfer market.

And it means key men like Kane will stick around rather than look to move on.

Kane knows it will be tough to overhaul the Gunners who are slight favourites with games running out.

He said: "There is still a lot of work to do, we are fourth as we stand."

"I think the improvement has definitely been there since the gaffer came in to where we are now."

"It shows it can be done in a short space of time, but obviously we will see what happens over the summer and look forward to the next season with a great manager and hopefully we've learnt a lot since he's been here."

"We have had spells where we were really good but it is about doing that on a consistent basis over a whole season in all competitions, not just the Premier League as well."

That is where we have got to get better and learn from and for sure the last few months have been a big improvement."

Kane was pleased to see Spurs land a battling win against Burnley at the weekend.

As he points out, it has been the so-called 'smaller sides' that have tripped them up this season.

They lost to Burnley earlier in the campaign just days after beating Manchester City.

Position

It took a Kane penalty deep into first-half injury time to see off a plucky Clarets side.

The striker added: "When you look at our season they are the games we have not quite got over the line in, which is why we are in the position we are."

"It was nice to respond. It has been a tough week, travel, quick preparation and Burnley are fighting for every point and they make it tough so overall really pleased."

"I will probably play some golf, spend some time with the family."

The narrow defeat gives Burnley hope that they can claw their way out of the relegation zone.

They have a claret and blue derby clash with Aston Villa on Thursday before hosting Newcastle at Turf Moor.

They have better goal difference than Leeds so one point from those two games could be enough.

Manager Mike Jackson said: "Staying in the Premier League is what we want to do, and we'll do everything that we possibly can to do that. We just have to keep fighting."

"We have got two games left. We take the really good positives out of that."

Stevie wants his Villans to burgle City

By ANDY MILLOM

STEVEN Gerrard is backing his players to end the season on a high – and help former club Liverpool win the Premier League title.

The Aston Villa boss is keen to land a top-half finish in his first season at the club.

To do that, they have to beat Burnley in their final home game on Thursday – and repeat the feat against Manchester City on the final day. That's because they dropped two points with a draw against Crystal Palace.

Beating City seems unlikely but Gerrard wants a big finish from his players.

He said: "A top-ten finish on but it's slightly more difficult now."

"We needed to really take control of that and take maximum points from the Crystal Palace match."

"But my players are frustrated and I really like that they are frustrated and hopefully we can go and take that frustration out on Thursday night."

because if we want to be a more consistent team at home, we have to be more ruthless and clinical in front of goal."

Gerrard added of Watkins: "I think a lot of players wouldn't have even been available, he's battled through and put himself and his body on the line again for 90 minutes."

"That's two games now in a short space of time where we're a little bit frustrated we haven't taken big chances we're creating. But we're doing ever so well to create them."

If Villa are to pull off an unlikely final-day success, Ollie Watkins will have to be on top form.

He scored against Palace having overcome an ankle injury in the defeat against Liverpool.

Gerrard added of Watkins: "I think a lot of players wouldn't have even been available, he's battled through and put himself and his body on the line again for 90 minutes."

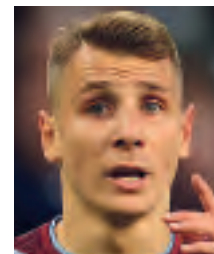

"He's a warrior, he's strong, and he's a delight to work with."

"Maybe that's the reason why he wasn't firing on all cylinders in terms of taking his chances against Palace, but his performance was fine for me."

"We asked him to really play with the eye of the tiger second half, and he certainly did."

"He deserves all the credit for scoring after a great cross from Lucas Digne."

"But without Ollie breathing down Guehi's neck, we don't get that goal. The presence of Ollie and the pressure he has put on the defender has led to a goal."

Aaron desperate to bury Europa ghost

AARON Ramsey wants desperately to make up for his Europa League heartache.

The midfielder hopes to take on Eintracht Frankfurt for Rangers on Thursday night.

He missed out when Arsenal were beaten by Chelsea in the 2019 final and is pumped to show the Glasgow giants what he can do after struggling with injuries.

By JOHN ANTHONY

The Welsh midfielder said: "It's definitely right up there, to play in a final in a European competition.

"They don't come around very often. Unfortunately I missed the Arsenal one a few years back, hopefully I can make up for it in this one.

"We got to the final and lost to Chelsea but for me to miss it though injury was tough but hopefully I get an opportunity now to make up for that."

There could be as many as 100,000 Rangers fans in Seville for the final – even though less than 10,000 tickets were allocated to the club by UEFA.

Ramsey added: "There's a lot of excitement around the club. We have a chance of creating history.

"There's a lot of energy around the place. Just looking forward to the game, you're one game away from making history.

"There are no issues about getting carried away."
